Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing this recommendation on behalf of Charles Davis. Charles and I worked closely together at the Deluxe Corporation for a couple of years. During that time, I'd gotten to know Charles quite well and can thoroughly vouch for his graphic design, web design, and multi-media skills and abilities as well as his character. He is a responsible, caring, and hard-working individual.

During our working years together, Charles always had a firm grasp of creative design software and hardware, as well as showing strong visual and interactive design skills across a range of customer-facing Web and print projects. We would often discuss visual or color strategies for arranging page elements that maintained brand consistency and addressed business initiatives across a variety of marketing channels.

I'm happy to recommend Charles for any graphic and web design position. Please contact me if you should have any further questions.

Sincerely,

Daniel Roberge
